A gift of time

Denise,

It was a great year for anything. Maybe I'll see you at Ventura. Then again maybe all I'll be seeing at Ventura are strange creatures, roaming aimlessly around in wonder. Remember that the JETS are not going to be around forever. But THIS is the new sound and are going to take the place of The Dead.

The senior year in high school . . .

The class of 1984 was known for its extreme ability to have a great time. The Homecoming pizza booth was a big money-maker as three additional pizza runs had to be added to satisfy the hungry crowd. Featuring the Surfaries, the senior class sponsored homecoming dance was a highlight of the year. The Formal and Prom nights provided fun and irreplacable memories for all. Traditional activities such as the assembly, panorama picture, and breakfast further united the class while adding excitement to the '83-'84 school year. Finally all of the planning and hard work paid off with graduation and grad night culminating a fantastic, memorable year.

Dear Denise - Hello there! Well, it's hard to believe this year is already over. I'm never coming back, eeekk! I'm glad we got to do some things this year, but it's still not enough. We have to do something when I come back from Europe (July 23) like go to the beach or party. Have a great summer and stay as sweet and kind as you are! Bye, bye

Love always;
Jenny Toes

Junior Class Officers

Kerry Shean, president

Preparation for the PSAT, SAT, AP exams, off campus during lunch, driver's licenses, first car, first job, independence at last.

This year's enthusiastic junior class worked hard, and it paid off. The homecoming booth, "Pie in the Face," was a popular and lucrative venture. Several other fundraisers were held throughout the year to prepare for next year's graduation. The Prom, as always, highlighted the year's activities. Thanks to a dedicated group of junior leaders, hours upon hours of time were donated to select a photographer, florist, band, hotel and menu for the May event.

A year filled with spirit, enthusiasm, and hard work combined to created a prosperous and active class, ready to tackle the senior year.

Amy Appelhans, president

The sophomore class at RH this year, led by Amy Appelhans, continued to build a treasury for the future. Homecoming brought in revenue with another successful booth. The Soph Doll Dance once again brought the leaders together as they dedicated themselves to sponsoring this fun and profitable dance. Other successful fundraising projects held throughout the year also added dollars to the treasury.

A year filled with new awareness, a sense of responsibility, and dedication combined to create a strong, unified group of sophomores, ready to take on the title of "upperclassmen."

Freshman Class Officers

Rebecca Marcone, president

The freshman year in high school . . .

Astonishment in an alien environment, trying to find oneself among 2000 strange faces, facing a brave new world, maturity at last.

The class of 1987 had an outstanding first year. The homecoming booth was an immense success. The class also went on an excursion to a television studio followed by many other activities that filled the calendar. The Frosh Fox dance, the Elections dance, a bake sale and a booth at the 20th anniversary celebration were included in this year's fundraisers.

A year filled with dedication, fun, and perseverance combined to unite the freshman class with a hopeful outlook to the future.

We have continued to make the year a successful one and a most enjoyable one. Through hard times and good times, but most of all with the support of the student body, the 1983-84 school year was the greatest ever. Carry on the good times!

RHHS 5-0: A Tropical Paradise

Homecoming week transformed the Rolling Hills campus into a Tropical Paradise. Students added to the enthusiasm of the event by dressing in exotic Hawaiian shirts, leis, puka shells, and grass skirts. Lunchtime activities attracted large audiences as teachers and students joined professional Hawaiian entertainers on stage. The entrancing Tahitian dancers taught some volunteers the mystical art of the hula dance. With the beat of the bongo drums in the background, the crowd cheered on. The limbo contest highlighted Thursday's activities with students seeing how low they could go. The week came to a close with the Fair where exotic food and beverage stands covered the amphitheater. Fun and game booths also added to the excitement. Surprise guest Denise Westwood passed out KMET bumper stickers, pins, and roctober cards. The Reactors played favorite tunes for the spirited RH crowd. The football game against North and Homecoming dance culminated the week's successful activities. A parafoiler made a surprise landing on the football field during halftime with the announcement of the 1983 Homecoming Queen Colleen Weatherell.

During the lunchtime contest, Chris Ahearn and Carolyn Clark limbo to the sound of surf music. Although they made an excellent attempt at winning, both were out-limboed.

Dreaming of the day he will become a true rodeo star, Mr. Bill Ryan attempts to direct his ass in the right direction so he can make another basket for the faculty team.

With a determined look, Mr. Pier decides how to break through the student's defense. He was a major asset.

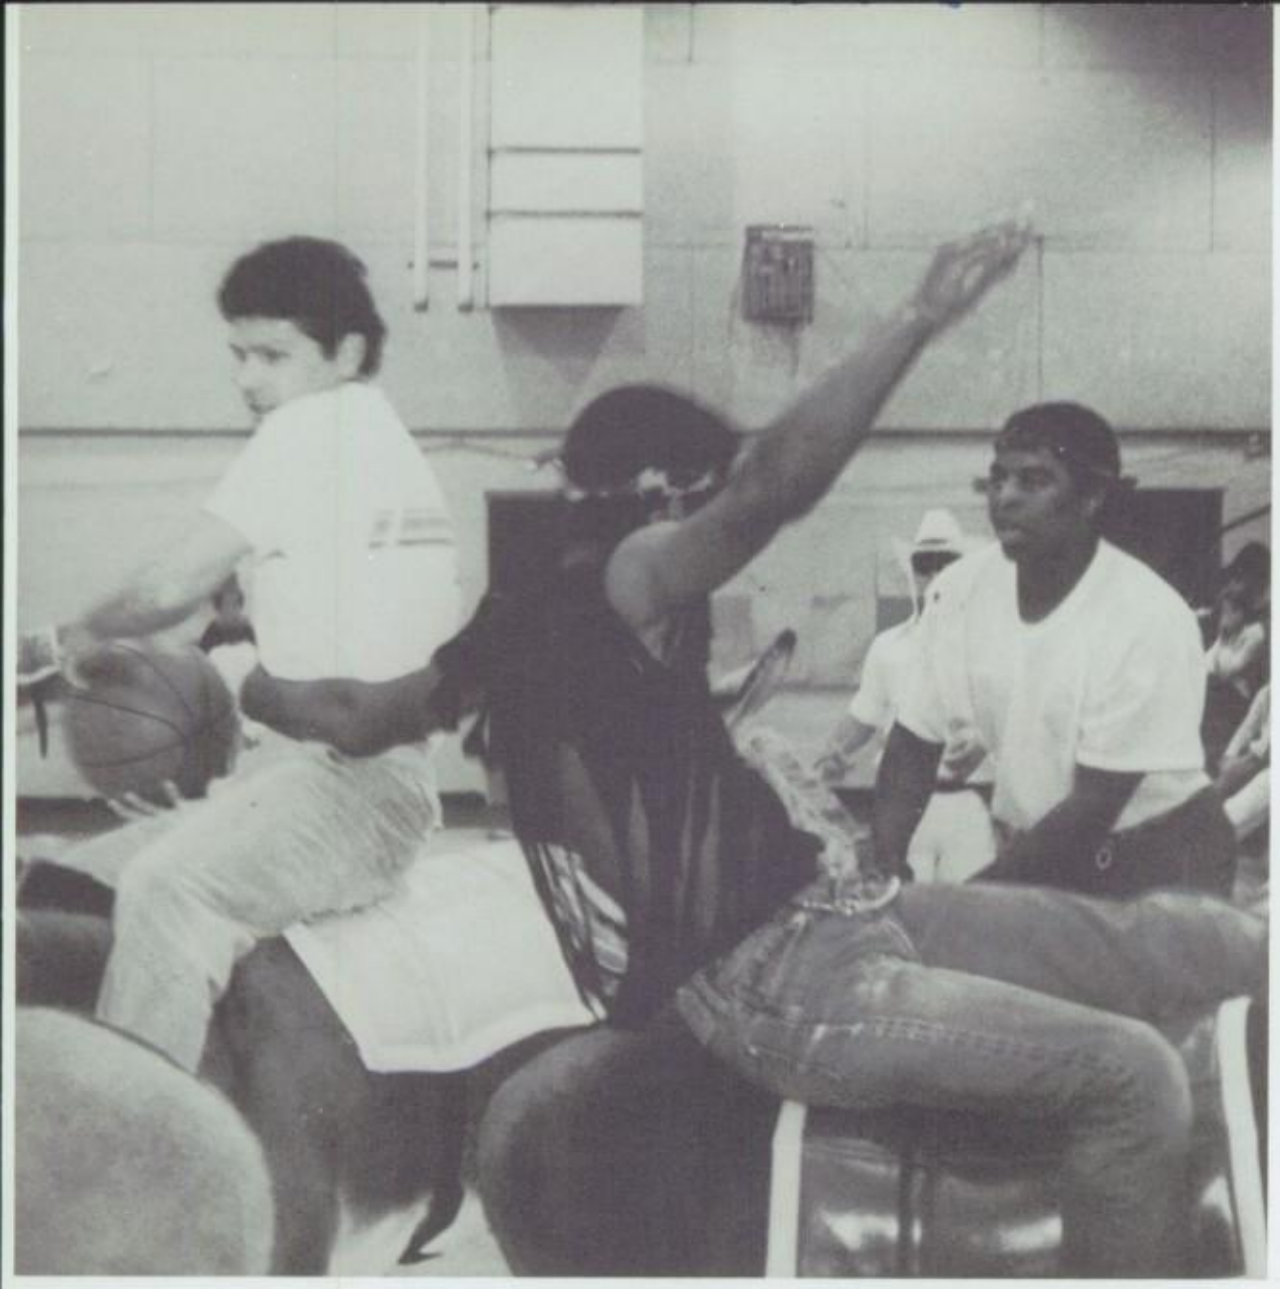
Getting Sue Elledge's attention, Claudia Bassin laughs at the karate woman's expression as she sees what her donkey has stepped in.



Senior Jackie Shepherd holds on to Ryan's waist for dear life as his donkey prepares to take off in a wild gallop. Pro Brian Robinson looks on in dismay wondering why they can't be as talented as himself.

Faculty just can't be beat

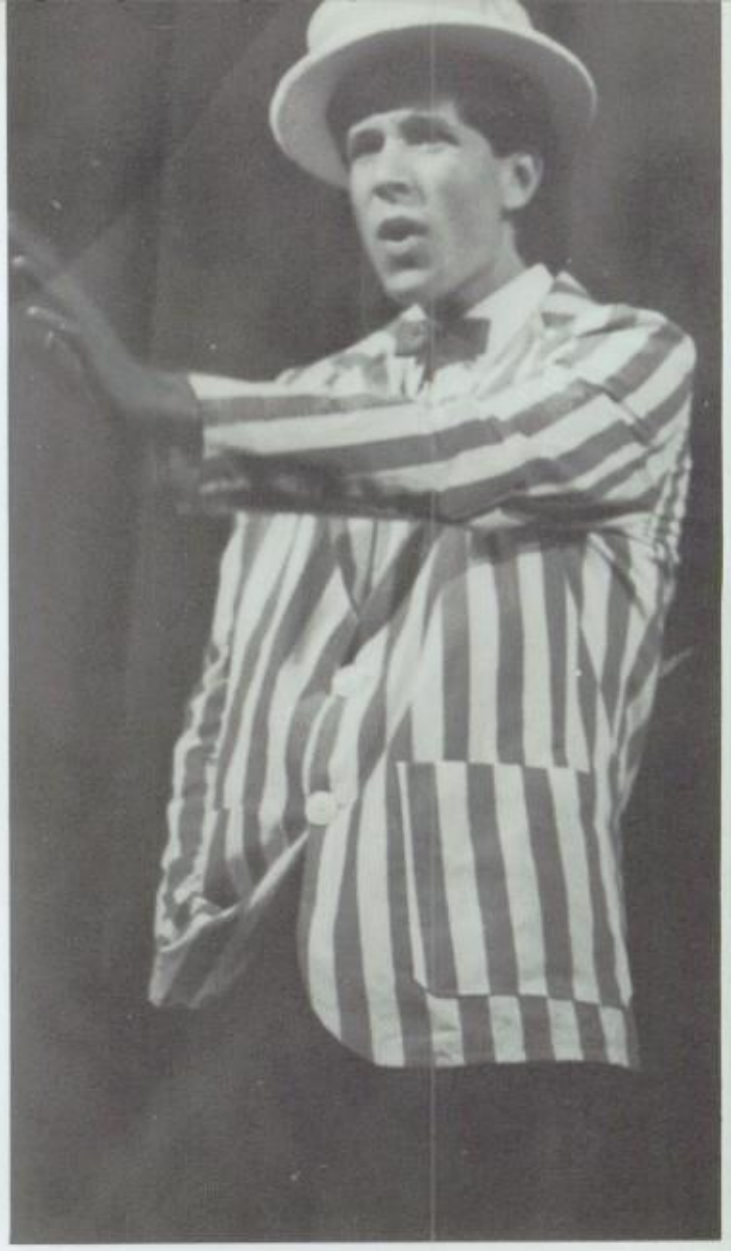
The narrow win of 40-38 by the faculty over the students proved that the Lettermen are no pushovers in this sport requiring both agility and shooting skills. While competing against the notorious faculty, the Lettermen exuded a surprisingly high caliber of talent and spirit while working well as a team. The half-time antics performed by the prospective Lettermen's Club members psyched the crowd as well as the participants. The score throughout the game remained extremely close even up until the last seconds when the teachers edged out the students by a mere two points. The high scorers for the students were seniors Steve Lee and Micah Bellow. Leading the faculty with points were Mr. Bob Pier and Mr. Bill Ryan. Although many were disappointed concerning the outcome of this controversial event, perhaps this close loss will be an incentive for future Lettermen.

Jarosz fights for the ball, attempts a tricky shot, and loses his sense of direction. He aims backwards.

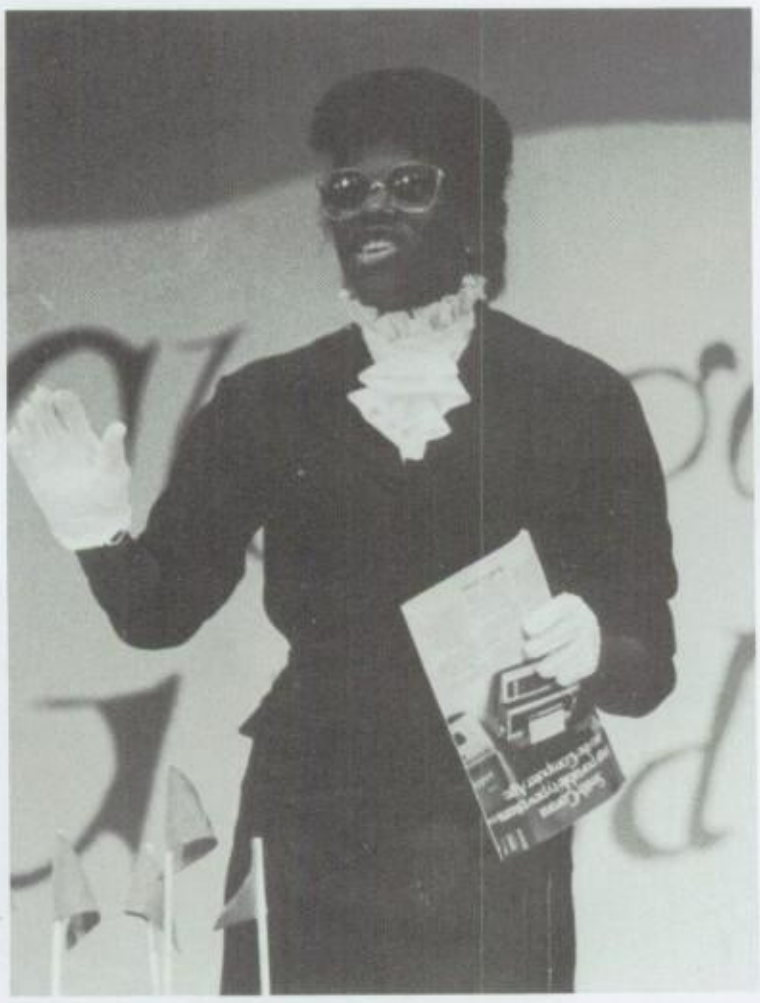
It seems that Gina Gallucci is scared of her donkey and pleads with the Lettermen to let her take a raincheck at the last minute. As usual, they force her to play.

Once in a Lifetime Exudes High Energy

The comical play, "Once in a Lifetime," was a success this fall, displaying the talent and enthusiasm of everyone in the cast. Adrienne Samaha (May Daniels), Nate Abinder (Jerry Lewis), and Charles Machalicky (George Lewis) all portrayed three friends trying to attain fame and fortune in Hollywood. Samaha's performance enhanced her role as Daniels, who is a bright, alert girl. The friends attempted to run a voice school for stars of the Silent Film industry, but failed. Through humorous trials and situational ironies, the typical attempt to rise to stardom was manifested. The cast worked with a little magic in those in between moments, commented Billy Creamer, Drama Instructor and Play Director. This production showed the capabilities and hard work of the whole cast, who produced an extraordinary show.



Nate Abinder added tremendously to the success of the play by displaying his quality acting and singing talents.



A bright new script writer (Kelly Woods) contemplates writing about a Southern belle who can't have the one man she desires.

In her first major role, Charla Kabana skillfully portrays a famous Hollywood gossip columnist. She reviews the latest stories with Mae Daniels (Adrienne Samaha).

George Lewis (Charles Machalicky) is a bit tipsy and attempts to prove his point to the president of Glowgower Productions (Darryn Rozas) and Weisskopf (Ed Waterman).

The confused secretary (Stacey Gregory) tries to escape from the crazy frustrated writer Lawrence Vail (Rod Van Beek). The scene was crowd pleasing.

The bellboy (Cam Bell) of Hollywood's famous Stilton Hotel sits down to tell his associates of what he has possibly discovered. Bell added superb light humor to his role.

During a touching moment in the play, Susan Walker (Kim Roberts) tells her true love George Lewis (Charles Machalicky) that her father demands that she come home.

Letterman's Royalty

Royalty Reigns

"Neptune's Ball," the theme of this year's Winter Formal, was creatively carried out to the last detail by the Girls' League. The gym was effectively transformed into an underwater fantasy world. The entertaining band, "Headfirst" definitely created a "large splash" as the crowd danced enthusically. Highlighting the evening was the coronation of Key Club Queen Leslie Oliver and Girls' League King Steve Lee. Presented in the Key Club Court were Princesses, Gina Galucci, Amy Hester, Christy Johnson, and Angela Santos. Honored as Girls' League Princes were Gordon Burns, Greg Butler, Phil Carabet, and Kyle Lundy.

Neptune's Balls

Choral gives musical gift

Madrigals, Concert choir, and the welcome addition of the Barbershop Quartet made the second winter choral concert "Simple Gifts," an immense success. Along with the traditional holiday songs, the Choral Department added choreographing to their exciting show. Mrs. McIntyre directed a Wide range of music including pop, jazz, folk, and classical. Throughout the year, the Choral Department held many fundraisers to help pay for their tour through Santa Barbara, San Francisco, and Yosemite. While traveling, they enjoyed the various tourist attractions while becoming a closely knit group.

Mrs. McIntyre, choral director, conducts the Madrigals in a festive Christmas song which spread good cheer among the audience. Madrigals were noted for outstanding performances throughout the year.

Mira Wolff captivates the audience with "Le Jazz Hot." A soloist must prepare weeks in advance for such a performance.

The tiresome rehearsals definitely paid off for Concert Choir as was evident by their confident air. Concert choir is dedicated to perfecting their songs.

Choreo says 'Let's Dance'

The Choreo Presentation, "Let's Dance," was considered to be the best one of the year by its performers. The dancers spent many hours in preparation for a show which brought many spectators. Working out from sometimes 3:00 to 11:00 at night, Choreo members felt that it paid off when performing. The audience was very responsive and considerably larger than previous years, as a Choreo member commented. They thrilled the audience with dances including ballet, jazz, modern and tap. The introduction and finale included all the members in Choreo, and produced an uplifting effect. The dancers, though exhausted from rehearsals, said that they were happy to work together and were proud of their production.

Sophomore Buddy Gervais (Prez) informs Eric Ruona (Joe) that if the factory workers don't receive a raise soon, they will go on strike.

Pajama Game Wakes up R.H.

The Rolling Hills spring musical, "Pajama Game," is a light comedy adopted from Richard Bisell's novel, 7½ Cents. Originally presented by Frederick Brisson, Robert Griffith and Harold Prince in 1954, the production has proven to be exceedingly successful at Rolling Hills. It was apparent that Mr. Creamer did not lower his high standards in directing the musical, despite working with a limited budget. The musical opens at the Sleep Tite Pajama Factory where Hines, (Charles Machalicky) the production manager, attempts to speed up the machines. Babe, (Gina Thompson) head of the union grievance committee, approaches the factory's superintendent, Sid Sorokin (Robert Harris, Jason Franklin) with a demand for a raise of seven-and-one-half-cents. Sid takes a liking to Babe and is determined to get the employees their raise. To win the raise and the girl, he must first confront the president (Ricky Green) who has kept fraudulent bookkeeping. The dedication and time-consuming preparation exerted by the entire cast was evident by their superb performance. Especially talented were Jason Franklin, Robert Harris, Gina Thompson, and Mira Wolff who had the lead roles. Contributing greatly to the production's success as well were Charles Machalicky, Buddy Gervais, and Charla Kabana.

"There are better things to do than talk," explains Jason Franklin (Sid) to his leading lady, Gina Thompson (Babe). The two gave outstanding performances together.

Dressed as factory workers, members of the chorus stage a "slowdown" to pressure their boss for a raise, the chorus was comprised of many talented students.

Exhausted and underpaid, Kelly Woods, Anya A'Hearn, Maile Jones, Stacey Gregory, and Erica Carnay combat their boredom by singing "Racing With the Clock."

Ricky Green (Mr. Hassler) rhetorically stresses to the disinterested crowd that the Sleep Tite Pajama Factory is an exceptional company.

The team's nucleus was made up of seniors who have had three to four years of varsity experience. William Morevec and Greg Cioth were the leaders of the team along with excellent support from Bill Wallace and Rocky Sheng. In a game against Palos Verdes, Seniors Bill Boulliane and Rob Delker stretch high above the net to block their opponent's spike.

Volleyball

This year's Rolling Hills Volleyball program showed great improvement over past years. The varsity team was highly competitive in the Inglewood Invitational and went to the semifinals in the LaSerna Tournament. This years team was led by team captain, Chris North, who was also the team's exceptionally talented setter. The team's fierce offensive attack was led by the mighty hitting talent of Karl Probst and Bill Boulliane. The awesome hitting of these two, complemented by superb setting from Jim Patch and North, and consistent play from Robert Delker and Mickey Espy resulted in the best volleyball team RH has had. The varsity team coached by Harvey Crow and Mike Albright has proven that they are a quality team.

Junior Karen McCormick makes a great save as she gains a valuable point against South. The Titans went on to eventually defeat South in three sets.

Volleyball

The Girls Varsity Volleyball team had an impressive season as they ended with a 9-5 record. This much improved team was led by captain Katie Byrkett. Katie had an outstanding season as she consistently gave fine performances during this competitive season. Junior Sharyl Bilas and Sophomore Carol Fox also proved to be great assets to the team. All three helped to lead the Titans to astounding victories over West and Palos Verdes. Coach Kathi Bianchi has a good outlook for her team next year. The Junior Varsity was not as successful as they ended with a 4-10 record. But despite their disappointing season, they seemed to maintain incredible enthusiasm throughout the season. Freshman Sue Rungaldier and Junior Kim Modir — Fatemi were key players.

Basketball

The boys varsity basketball team began the season with high expectations. There were many returning players from a team that just missed the play-offs a year before. The L.A. Times had predicted the Titans to challenge Santa Monica High for the Bay League crown. As the season began, it seemed evident that the team would do well with a win in the Hilltop Classic at Miraleste High and a second place finish in the Capistrano Valley tournament. As league play began, things soon turned sour. Rookie Coach Bill O'Neill had to deal with injuries and bad luck as the Titans finished with an 8-6 league record, just one game behind third place Centennial. 6'10" center Greg Butler along with forward Jeff Robinson provided strength inside while Jacques Gravett and Brad Jay contributed with strong outside shooting. Kyle Lundy's playmaking ability and hustle brought both aspects together. The junior varsity team finished with a strong 13-1 record and will add many fine players to next year's team.

Varsity: Row 1; J. Rojas, J. Landreth, T. Klingensmith, J. Robinson, G. Butler, B. Gura, B. Jay, K. Lundy, J. Gravett, D. MacTavish. Kneeling; Coach B. O'Neill.

Junior Varsity: Row 1; C. Gehr, J. Dox. Row 2; D. Pizer, J. Santos, K. Chastain, D. Merrill, G. Miller, M. Schlaegal, D. Sun, R. Imus.

Following the Rolling Hills tradition, the Titan team entered the season with high hopes. Although they lost many Varsity members this year, the team was supported by some exceptional returning runners and fielders. Co-captains Gina Fong and Anne Polzin contributed greatly competing in sprints while Freshmen Nu-Gina Rogers and Christy Lee strengthened the remainder of the Varsity squad in sprints and the high jump respectively. Despite losses to West and Palos Verdes at the beginning of the season, the team finished the season with excellent individual performances. Nu-Gina Rogers excelled in sprints running the 200 in 27.13 seconds while Kyla Robinson and Christy Lee reached a height of 5'2" and 5'3" respectively. Although most of the girls were young and relatively inexperienced, the team improved at every meet and completed the season with a positive attitude and great potential for next year.

Junior hurdler and returning Varsity runner Carole Hauser flies over one of her last hurdles to win the 110 lows. With her three years of experience, she easily left her competitors behind.

Girls' Clubs

Girls' League encourages friendship, loyalty, and service among the girls of Rolling Hills. Some of their activities were Buttons 'n' Bows, Powder Puff Football, and planning for the Winter Formal. Senior Girls' Club is a special club that unites the senior girls in projects of service and social functions, and it also promotes spirit within the school. Girls' Service Club is an honors organization whose members assist in many school functions during the year as well as helping at many community events. Money earned goes to the same needy families who are the recipients of the annual toys, food, and clothing collections.

Interact, Teen Advocates, Student Union, and Library Committee provide valuable services to Rolling Hills students and the community. Interact sponsored an underprivileged child and was also involved in visiting people in hospitals and rest homes on Halloween and Christmas to spread happiness and care. Teen Advocates is a group trained to help teens handle their problems. Their latest project is Safe Rides, a service to people who are stranded at parties or too drunk to drive. Library Committee helped both public and school libraries by working on surveys, book sales, and marathons. Student Union is a group dedicated to beautifying the Rolling Hills Campus and other beneficial services. Animal Welfare promotes animal welfare by educating the school so that students know about the inhumane treatment of animals. This club sponsored organizations by giving donations, and in return speakers informed members at noontime meetings.

Athletic Support Clubs

The Lettermen's, Touchdown, and Dugout clubs are organized to raise funds for Rolling Hills High athletic programs. The Key Club also raises money for the school, but in addition to that, they provide services to the community. These services include visting convalescent homes every Halloween. The Dugout Club, sponsored by Mr. Poe, is responsible for raising money for the baseball team. Its members are kept busy selling concessions at games, in addition to selling ads for the baseball program. The Lettermen's Club is an honors organization for students who have earned an athletic varsity letter at Rolling Hills. Members provide great entertainment at the annual Donkey Basketball Game. The Touchdown Club is one of the most successful fund-raising clubs on campus. It too is composed of athletically talented students.

These outstanding students are recognized for their efforts and achievements. In addition to being an honor society, NHS also participated in many activities on campus.

Honor Clubs

To excel in a foreign language is a great accomplishment. The French, Spanish, and German Honor Societies are organizations in which advanced language students are honored. Another honor society on campus is the International Thespian Society. This is a nationally recognized organization for dedicated and talented actors, actresses, and technical staff. Although there are many different types of honor societies on campus, their intentions are all primarily the same — to reward students' efforts with the recognition they deserve.

Academic Clubs

Academic clubs on campus provide service and offer outlets for students interested in these unique fields. Toots club provides tutoring services and help improve reading skills. Students are exposed to procedures in the United Nations in which they are assigned countries in the M.U.N. Students from other countries have a chance to communicate in one form or another in the International Exchange Club, formerly named A.F.S. While enjoying the company and ideas of others, the Shakespeare Society gives the opportunity for people to elaborate on their interests. Similarly, Satori publishes an annual book, demonstrating students' creatability and talent. This publication contains excellent pieces of art and literary works constructed throughout the year.

Language Clubs

The foreign language clubs help students learn about other cultures. Members of these clubs gather with those of other schools to further their knowledge of these cultures. The French club participates in activities that help its members experience the French way of life. German club members participate in Octoberfest, exposing them to German culture. The Latin club broadens the students' knowledge of this classical world and its customs. The Spanish club, whose activities include trips to Mexico, and Olivera Street, expands its members' knowledge of Spanish language and culture.

Academic Clubs

The Academic clubs on campus give competitive and amusing opportunities to our students. The Computers Club offers instruction in training in computer languages such as: FORTRAN, COBAL, BASIC, and machine language. A competitive organization, the Math Club represents the school in math competitions around the state. This year they met stiff opposition including Occidental and Pomona and Bay League. Similarity, the Academic Decathalon engaged in ten competitions in the L.A. county. The more amusing based clubs, such as Biology and Science Fiction allow students to express their interests in these fields while listening or laughing at others' experiences.

Athletic Clubs

This year's Athletic clubs proved to be prosperous and popular. All members of the Runners for Higher Endurance club enjoyed long distance running and many participated in running sports for R.H.H.S. The wrestling club this year drew many students interested in this sport. These members raised funds useful to the wrestling team. Similarily, the Girls' Tennis club was primarily striving for money to help out the tennis team. Parties were also planned for after the games. The Super Chicken Fan club was new to RH this year. This enthusiastic organization provided for much of the spirit at school sport activities. They were seen or heard at many basketball games.

Performing Arts

Daily after school practice produced an excellent choreo program this year. They entertained the student body with numerous lunch performances and nightly shows. P.A.T.S. is a club which consists of a select group of devoted, technically oriented students under the supervision of Ron Keele. Forensics is a form of competitive speech divided into subcategories. The members compete in oral competition such as Debate, Dramatic Interpretation, and Programmed Reading. Sponsored by Billy Creamer, the drama club rehearsed dramatic arts by performing in drama productions. This is an enjoyable club for those interested in acting or theatre. The D.A.N.S.S. club was new this year. The Dance All Night Support Society and other new clubs were warmly welcomed by the student body. This spirited organization supported the school dances.

Choral Groups

The choral department of Rolling Hills High consists of two primary performing groups. The Madrigals is an honors group selected by auditions. The group actively participates in school activities, and has also sung in outside performances. Members of the Madrigals went on Madrigal Singers tour in May, when the group traveled to Northern California to sing. The second primary vocal music group at Rolling Hills is the Concert Choir. This is also an audition based group which performs in seasonal concerts and in outside engagements. The Barbershop Quartet is comprised of four of the male singers of the Madrigals. They sing a wide variety of songs and were asked to perform on many occasions. The Folksingers Club sponsors the school's ever-popular Hootenanny. These four groups brought an added sense of the performing arts to Rolling Hills.

Instrumental Music

Rolling Hills High School has a reputation for providing fine instrumental music performances. The marching band is responsible for giving exciting and entertaining shows during pep rallies and half-time shows. Orchestra and Wind Ensemble made Rolling Hills High proud by placing high in the many competitions they participated in throughout the year. The String Trio is made up of the three most talented members of the Orchestra. They, along with Jazz Band, Orchestra, Wind Ensemble, and Concert Band, performed in winter and spring concerts. These groups carried on the Rolling Hills tradition of fine musical standards.

Leisure Clubs

For those students who had the time for a wide range of extracurricular activities, Rolling Hills offered many fascinating clubs. The leisure clubs on campus were, to say the least, diverse in nature. The Volleyball Club attracted athletes who are enthusiastic about the sport. Members of the Senior Yacht Club were formerly called the Tuesday Afternoon Sailing Society. They were connoiseurs of the fine art of sailing. As the name implies, the Scuba Club went diving at various points around Southern California. Playing exciting role playing games is the goal of the Simulation Game Club. The Green No Name Club was formed for the purpose of promoting the color of green.

Amusement Clubs

The Chess Club provides chess players an opportunity to practice and improve their chess playing skills and strategies. Mr. Porter is their sponsor. In the Flyers Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Morgan, aviation fans meet and discuss their pastime. They participated in activities such as air shows and actual flying experiences. The Car Appreciation Club plans and sponsors exciting car rallies that many Rolling Hills High students participate in. They personally furnish prizes for the winners. The Fun, Food, and Fashion Club's members are interested in the three items that their name expresses. They meet to share their ideas on those topics. All in all, these clubs provided a source of enjoyment and amusement for many R.H. students.

Amusement Clubs

Ranging from game playing to entertaining the students at lunch, the Amusement Clubs provided a casual atmosphere for members wishing to learn new skills. The Clubs Organization was created to teach its members various card games and to improve their strategies. Paralleling this club is the Oriental Game Club. This was established to improve the students' skills in various complicated games. The Quest Club is designed to promote interests in games of adventure. Every week these students meet in the career center to play. A new club was established this year. The Hamiltonian Society was created for those students who considered themselves the elite, as their title indicates. Many members are Mr. Maeders "pointyheads." Lastly, Radio R.H.H.S. worked hard to entertain the student body by providing the awesome music heard at lunchtime.

School Administration

The administration at Rolling Hills High School is continually working at bridging the gap between students and administration. That aim was met this year as they all worked together as a single force to achieve common goals. Mr. Lawrence, principal, maintained his open door policy to students and staff as he worked toward better inter-school communication. He wore many hats — as leader, friend, disciplinarian, and teacher. This year the entire administrative staff worked for and achieved a positive atmosphere where freedom and responsibility prevailed.

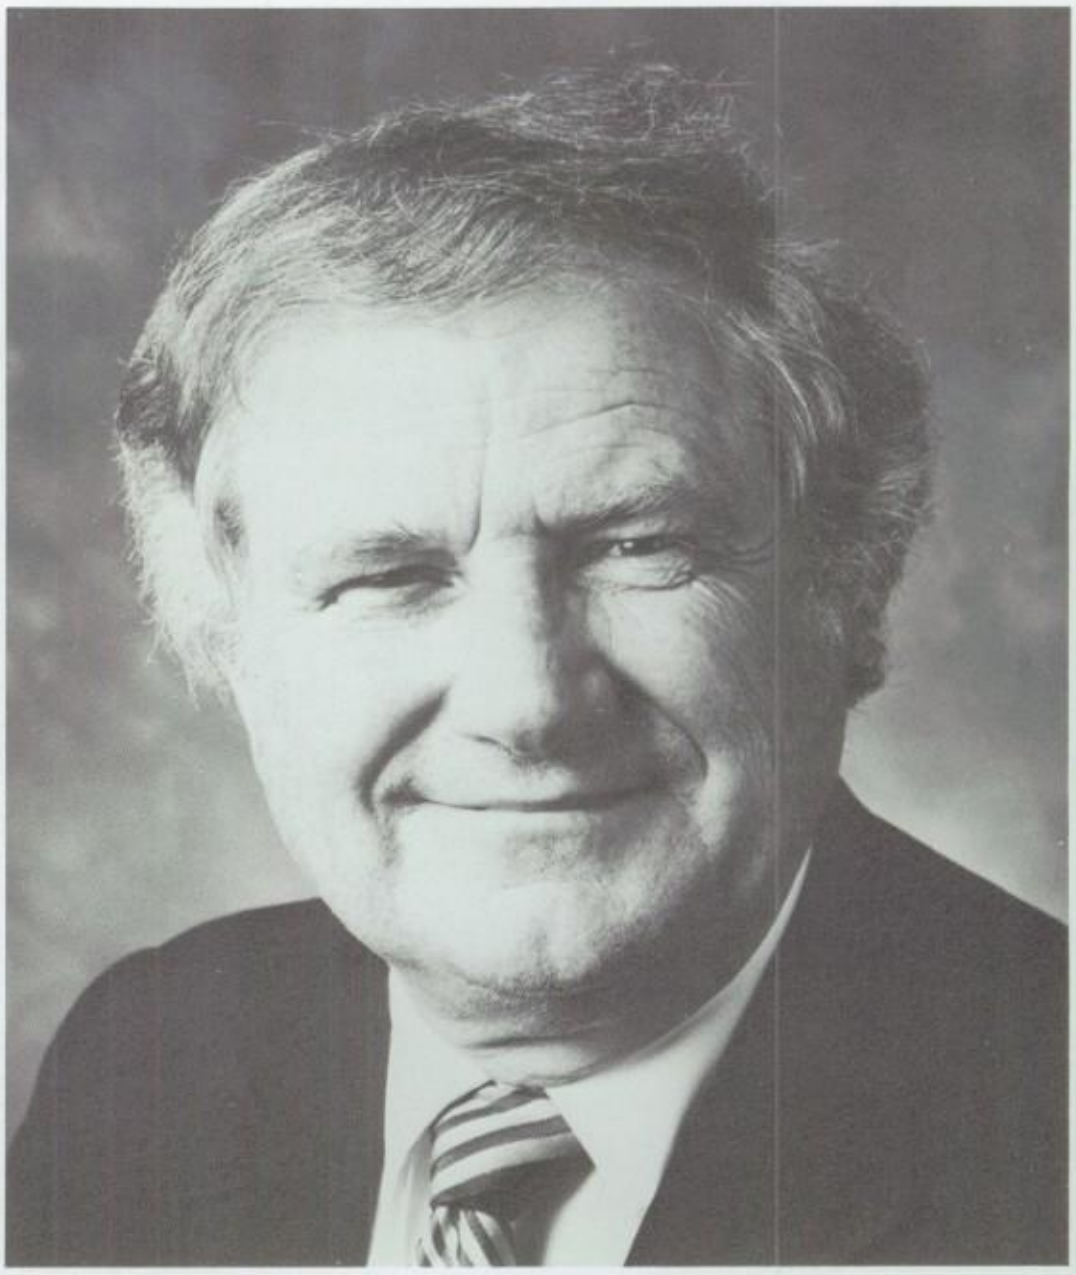
District Administration

The Administration and the Board of Education began the year with a newly-appointed Superintendent, Jack Price and a new set of legislative rules to abide by. The district scaled down to live with curtailed financial resources and geared up for curriculum changes, both dictated by Senate Bill 813, the school finance-reform law passed by the state legislature. It was a year of challenges, but ones the Board and district were prepared to meet.



Dr. Jack Price, Superintendent of Schools

Dr. Price speaks on an important issue at a recent board meeting. Board meetings are open to the public.

Counselors

The goal in the counseling office is communication. Despite a ratio of students to counselor that was deemed impossible to work with by many, the RH staff succeeded in helping each and every student. Students discussed, inquired, related to, and learned from the counselors as they developed a rapport and understanding of one another. Counselors added a personal touch and were always there with knowledge, advice, and caring.

Counselor Emily Wierenga takes time to explain the new University of California requirements that will affect the class of 1987 to Freshman Wendy Wyte.

Mathematics

The wide range of mathematics courses accommodates the wide range of student needs. At Rolling Hills, a student may master mathematical skills for everyday living and/or master mathematical skills for college entrance. From arithmetic to calculus, the Mathematics Department maintains standards to insure their students a superior background. This year the department continued this program as students mastered basic skills and learned to solve new problems. The program was updated in this calculator/computer age and RH students once again were ranked top in mathematics competitions.

Business

The department offered eight courses designed to develop skills in typewriting, word processing, office procedures, computers in business, and accounting. Students had the opportunity to obtain entry-level skills and also to obtain a foundation of skills needed to pursue a business major at the college level. A new course was added in the use of micro computers to provide students with knowledge about them and their application in office settings. The department also manages a 15 student terminal micro computer lab with an aide who assists students with computer related assignments in all courses. An enthusiastic and highly skilled staff joined this year to bring the most up-to-date programs available in the areas of business to RH students.

Jerry Gaines helps Rob Scow program a computer during his "Computers in Business" class. Courses were updated to meet the new demands in the business world.

Social Studies

The Social Studies Department covers an expansive area of study from psychology to world history. This year course offerings included Western Civilization, Economics, Government, U.S. History, Psychology, Student and the Law, and advanced offerings in most areas. In the classroom, students sharpened their skills, enabling them to think critically and understand their own culture as well as cultures all over the world. In addition they developed an awareness of local, national, and world problems while analyzing the rationale of human thought and actions. Lectures, discussions, films, and debates enhanced these areas under the direction and leadership of 14 fine social studies teachers.

Foreign Language

Four years of German, French, Latin, and Spanish were offered by the eight language teachers at RH. Most of these staff members continued to travel all over the world during summer months, a custom which enabled them to bring new, first-hand experiences back to the classroom each fall. There have been 37 sections in the department for the past eight years running. In view of the general student population decline in recent years, this fact translates out as an actual, steady increase in foreign language enrollment at RH. Besides a wide range of course offerings, the teachers were responsible for the strengths and popularity of the department. In addition, they are particularly proud of their two chapters of Language Honorary Societies — the Spanish under the direction of Ron Melton, and the French under the leadership of Sue Tyree.

Science

Taught by a highly qualified and talented faculty, the Science Department curriculum offered a variety of courses to meet the needs of any level science student. Basic courses in biology, physical science, and chemistry gave students a strong background while advanced classes such as Biology II, Physics and AP Physics were available for the serious science student. Selected students wanting to study independently were able to enroll in Special Projects and focus on specific interest areas. Phil Bottolfson introduced computers into the world of science working with related software. John McGehee continued his summer work at TRW which also benefitted students as he brought new lesson plans and experiments to RH. The department worked together on methods to improve and develop greater laboratory safety in classrooms. It was a productive and effective year for RH science students.

One nervous RH student kids with Jerry Lentz as she tries to talk him out of making her dissect a frog in biology. He laughs while saying she must do it and then decides to try and recruit her for his wrestling squad. Mr. Lentz had an excellent rapport with his students.

The Arts

RH is lucky to have one of the finest Performing Arts departments in the country. The Drama Department was honored when Teacher/Director Billy Creamer was chosen as one of the top ten instructors in the U.S. Creamer continued to bring his talent and zeal to every production this year. Three plays were presented at the Norris Theater and three on the RH stage. In the area of Forensics, students excelled once again as they competed throughout the year.

The ever-successful instrumental music program included courses in concert band, wind ensemble, orchestra, and coed marching band. Performances included concerts, music festivals, and musical shows. The marching band performed at games, half-time shows, and competed in parades as they were honored throughout the year. John McRae brought his abilities and spirit to this fine program once again.

The Home Ec Department offered a wide variety of classes which proved invaluable to college students in their own apartments as well as bachelors and bachelorettes. Creative Cookery was designed for those looking for a little variety as they created a ten-foot burrito party and entire Thanksgiving feast. Gourmet Cooking provided instruction in foreign foods cookery and menu planning on a computer. Sewing classes provided students with the basics of sewing techniques to the most advanced projects. In Child Care, students learned about the joys and problems of parenting as a pre-school was run on campus.

A combination of creative and useful class offerings in the Technical Arts Department and a staff of dedicated and knowledgeable teachers made this department a popular one at RH. Course offerings included Woodworking, Cabinet Construction, Mechanical Drawing and Metals.

During woodworking class, Mr. Baskerville shows a student how to begin a clock from a piece of plywood. Students learn woodworking from designing a plan to completing the final project.

Physical Education/ Health/ Driver's Ed

Laurie Nissen goes over her driver's test with Health and Driver's Education Teacher Bob Pier. They are both pleased that she passed, and Laurie is ready to get behind the wheel.

The Physical Education Department provided much more than an escape from academics. Athletics skills were taught and mastered in the areas of soccer, softball, racquetball, tennis, football, basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, and swimming. In this age of a renewed interest in physical fitness, students were fortunate to have a wide range of sports available to them. A staff of eager and skilled teachers provided instruction for all levels from the beginner wondering how many carats the baseball diamond has to the advanced individual on his or her way to the pro's.

The Health and Driver's Education Department at RH once again provided students with courses of benefit to them now and the future. Health classes provided knowledge about the human body dealing with matters of interest to teenagers from drugs to emotions. Current driving laws were discussed and studied in Driver's Ed classes.

English

Although four years of English are still required, the emphasis in all English courses has become writing. These expanded writing demands supplemented, not diluted, the extensive elective English offerings. Drama, Creative Writing, Media Study, Power Reading, Shakespeare, and Journalism exemplify the wide range of these courses. RH is fortunate to offer so many successful options for juniors and seniors. With increased expectations comes a reordering of time, and RH writing tutors became an important part of this new writing emphasis. Funded by the PV Educational Foundation, these tutors were available for classroom help and individual writing attention. As writing demands increase so must the overall quality of expression. Students and teachers alike made great strides with this new program.

Kindergarten, 2nd grade, on to big, studly 5th graders . . . then lowlife again in 6th. On the adventure of intermediated school, innocent fun. Then hugh school, the biggest obstacle of all. Since the beginning of kindergarten, we have been good friends . . . through the great times and down through the sewers of life, all of you guys have been there. THANKS! As we depart, each in our own separate ways, I hope we remain friends and keep in touch. Friends before, friends now and friends forever. Always — Little Jim (Bags)

Many of you people are reading these passages and are thinking, "What makes these guys so special?" It is nothing really. We are just a bunch of ordinary guys through extraordinary circumstances somehow found each other and became the best of friends. As many others, we have had many glorious times. I know I'll never forget them. Thanks guys for giving me such wonderful memories. I'll never forget them or you. — eternally friends Stuie (The mad "J")

Titan Staff

"We don't set up. We just deliver." This year marked the arrival of the Varityper and the discovery that, even with floppy discs, stories still had to be typed. The Titan also changed to a five column, one editor format. And the marvelous part about Titan is that everybody writes a story. Late-breaking sports coverage became a watchword in H-62, a room which prompted many non-staffers to cower and say, "I'm not going in there; it smells." Still, our sports editors trudged triumphantly onward with their motto, "I have my bylines and datelines. Now all I need are stores and headlines." Eleventh-hour paste-ups were no exaggeration, but a certain news editor's resurrection of Strunk and White made our late-night diction less nauseating, even after two Big Macs and a large Coke. Despite pressure from those who would abridge freedom of the press at Rolling Hills, the intrepid Titan journalists (?) managed to tackle such important issues as the use of profanity by lunchtime bands and the weekly testing schedule. Every third Friday the Road Warrior, aka the editor, would go to Gardena at 6 a.m. to pick up the ever-improving Titan, produced by the most hard-working staff, with one notable exception, in at least a year. And yet, at lunch on that third Friday, the students would head for the Titan. They'll eat anything.

Denise,

It's too bad we didn't talk more this year. I would have enjoyed it, but at least we're still friends, and that's important to me. I hope we can do something this summer before I depart. If not I'm sure I'll see you at Ventura County Fairgrounds. We had some good times together, your fun to be with. I wish you the very best of luck in life. Have a great senior year next year and take good care of yourself. If you're ever around S.F., look me up - I'm not that hard to find.

Love Always,
Scott

Who ARE These People???

"There's no need for you to be worried
About all those people
You never see those people
Anyway. . . . "

"I'll see you in the stars above
In the tall grass,
In the ones I love,
You're gonna make me lonesome when you go "

Hi Denise,
I'm so glad we had a class together even if it was chemistry oh, and algebra II ! It seems like we are in the same classes. I hope we can continue friends when we are in the same classes even if to grow close next year we don't have any classes together! Take care of yourself and the best of luck in everything you do this summer !
Love Always,
Kim

Denise-
History was fun this year (even though you never came!). In a few days we'll be seniors, hard to believe, huh. I'm glad you came to aerobics a lot this year and I'm glad we've become better friends. Have a nice summer.

Journalists win top national award

The Rolling Hills High School journalism department, under the direction of Adviser Sandra Grasinger, is first in the nation after capturing the Sweepstakes Award at the Journalism Education Association National Convention and Write-Offs in Phoenix, Arizona this week.

Individual trophies went to Carol Takenaka who took first place in Newsmagazine Layout; Wally Skalij, first place in Yearbook Photography; Ron Park, second place in Sports Writing; and Jeffrey Hollingsworth, third place in Newspaper Advertising.

The Sweepstakes trophy was awarded to the RHHS journalists who had accumulated more points than any of the other 105 schools who competed, representing 28 states. 1600 of the nation's top high school journalists entered the competition. Rolling Hills sent 17 representatives from the school's publications staffs, the Titan newspaper and Delphian yearbook.

(Naaa, couldn't be)

I glad we friends. It been good to me.
It been belly belly good to me. Of all the years we've been friends. This has been ~ 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th .... 12th aaaaaannnnnnd .... we're out! I think high school has gone pretty fast, only 1 more year & we'll be complete, full grown and mature. We sure have a long way to go! We've done so much together since we've known each other, it's almost like I'm you and you're me (?.) This year it kind of died down though, it was a rough year for me. We both spent a lot of time being busy at work or with boyfriends. But LOOK OUT R.H., next year is going to be wild & crazy !!. (I hope) all I want to do is get accepted to UCSD & then relax & goof off! You want to join me? I'm looking forward to next year a lot, I just want to devote the year to having fun & making friends. But yours is a friendship that will always be special to me. I know that any time I need to share something with someone, whether it's bad or good, you're there and that's what best friends are for. I can't wait till the Ventura concert, I always have so much fun at those concerts, especially now that everyone likes them. I remember when we got our first album to share & the only song we knew was Truckin' and we'd run along the beach singing the words. I love when we get in silly moods down at the beach. What da Hell is that? I know what it is. What da Hell was that? Lets go for a walk sometime soon in the later part of the day & do that again. One thing we never did was bike ride to Santa Barbara. But we have all summer. I want you to know that I love you as my best friend. You're the best live ever had, I can't believe you put up with my shit, but thanks. Let's have the best summer we've ever had and don't touch the spider guts.

Some Parting Gestures

Four short years ago, I entered H-62 for the first time and I couldn't help but be impressed. In that year and the three to follow, I came to call that room home and the people who worked there family. But this year was a special one.

Because I had no idea how many hours of hard work the editor-in-chief must put in, I must salute my predecessors. A book of this size cannot come about by magic. It takes countless hours of work by dedicated people who for the most part rarely get any recognition. I would like to correct this error by giving my utmost thanks to my entire staff. A few people have stood out as extraordinary achievers. Marvin and Mark were always there to write a tough caption or just to cheer me up. Wally and Gary continued the tradition of fine photography in the Delphian. I also can't forget special people like Robin, Meg, Suszi, Kathy, Carol, Carolyn, Jeff, and Jennifer. I must thank Konnie Krislock for taking the time to make our book so very special. Her devotion to her job and her special attitude is something that is rare in a person. A big thanks to the people at Pacific Studios. I am greatly indebted to Kurt Jupin who made many trips to our school and submitted many of his ideas to critical parts of this book. I have saved the biggest acknowledgement for last. This one goes to Sandy Grasinger. This year was hard on Sandy, but she was always there to bail me out of a crisis or restore my drooping self-confidence. She is more than a teacher to me. She is a valued friend. I cannot put a price on her talent or her friendship. All of these people have done much to affect this book which you now hold in your hands.

In defending myself, I would like to say that I thought of this theme two years ago in anticipation of my editor's position. Those of us who knew the theme were shocked at the announcement of the fall play. I hope that this does not detract from the impact of this theme.

There is a special thrill at the moment when you open your yearbook for the first time in June. I hope this book brings you a "Once in a Lifetime" memory.

Denise,
Hi! Well we made it through another year. It was great having you in Spanish. You and Mr. Ferro couldn't gone rounds at each other. Maybe you gave him another nervous break down and that is why he wasn't here today 6-8-84. I'll hope I'll see ya this summer. We're not playing softball anymore so I'll have to see ya around somewhere else. Your a really sweet person and I pray I'll have a class with you next year. If not we have to keep in touch. Have a great summer. And I wish you the best for your future.
Hasta ya later'

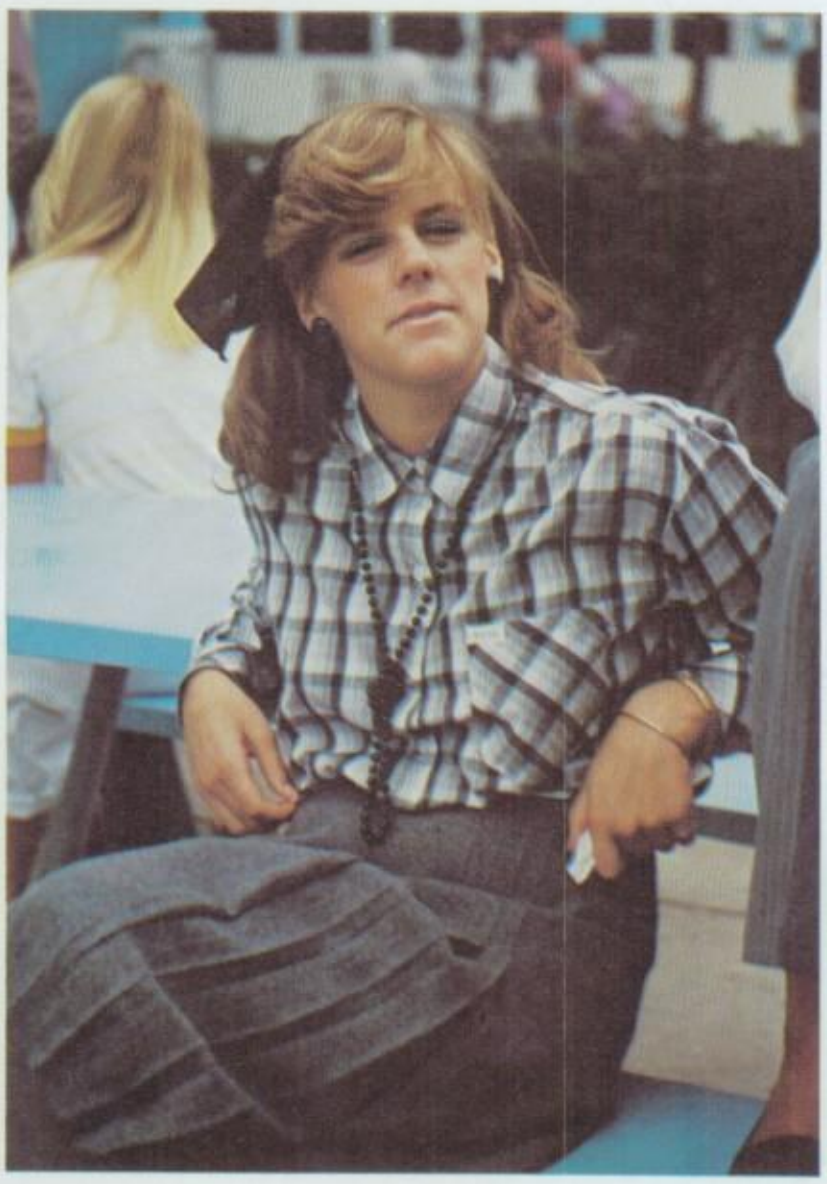
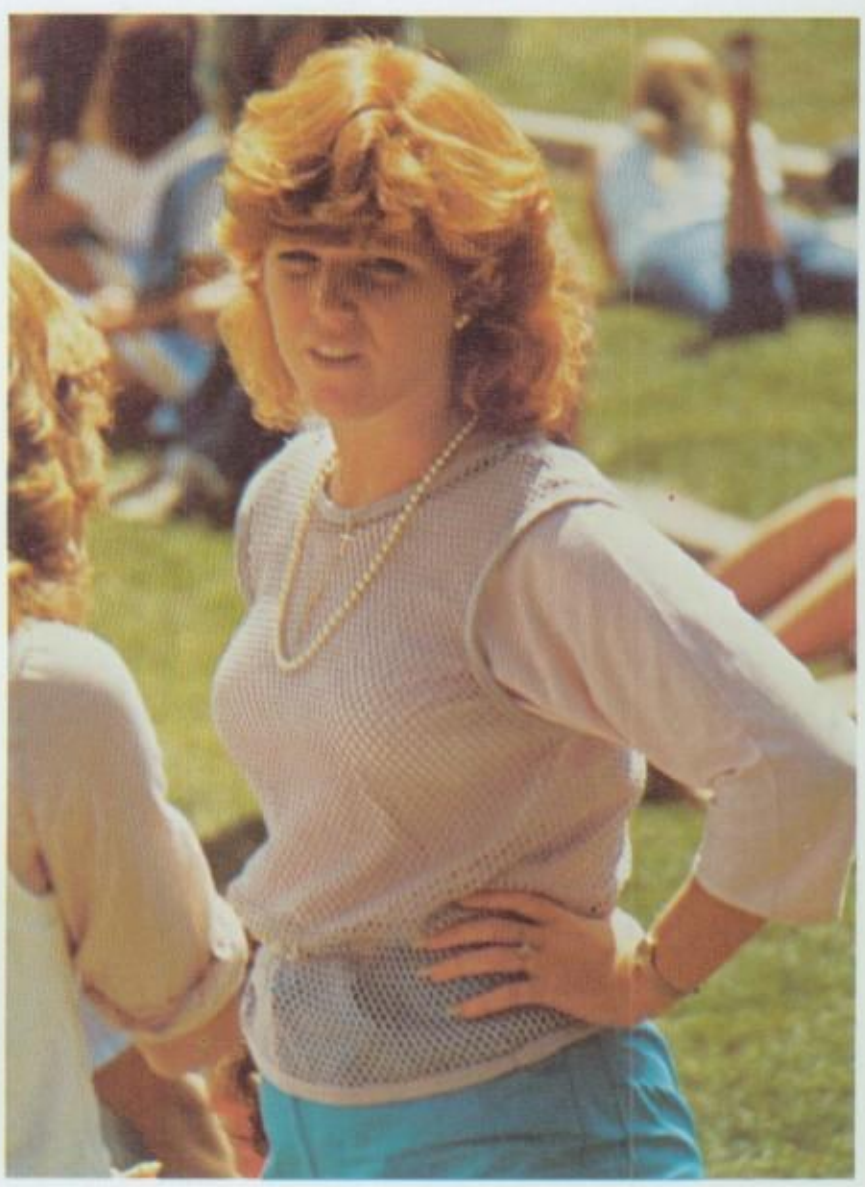
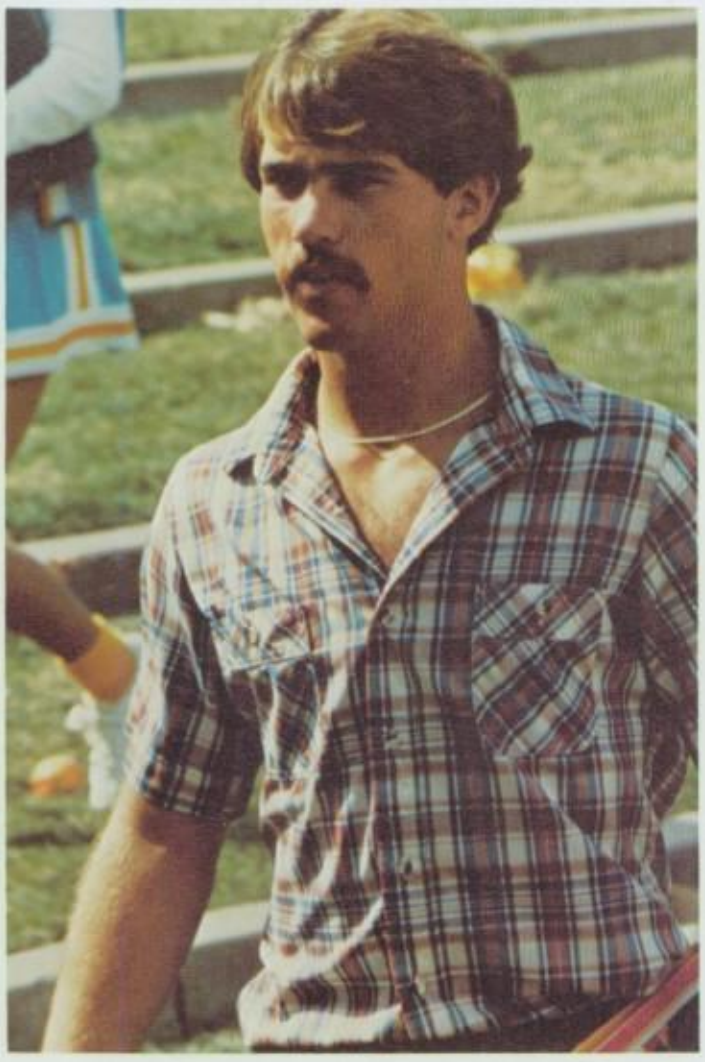
A struggle for answers





Denise,
of all the people I know you have to be one of the best. If not the best. Your laughs and terrible jokes are unbeatable. Every time I'm with you I always have a good time. Even if it's studying the worst subjects. Such as: Algebra II & chemistry. But because it's so fun I really don't seem to care. You've taught me many things this year. Not just about yourself but about myself. You've showed me that it doesn't matter what others ~~things~~ think of you. Just your thoughts count. So I guess it's al right to be weird? right!!! And you're the best at that.



If I ever could pick a girl to go out with I would make sure she had all of your qualities. I need to have someone where I can talk easily to, and happen to be one of them. So if you ever need a friend to talk to please come to me.

Love, &
Friends always
